Independent, experienced & holistic This makes viaLog stand out

Independent consulting

We advise our customers independently and individually. From the numerous systems and models, we help you to identify and combine the solutions that fit your company.

From first draft to go-live

Practical concepts, realizations that are true to the concept and permanent contact partners are the key advantages of our holistic logistics consulting - from the initial strategic considerations to actual operation.

Cross-industry experience

We have been working on logistical projects from all industries for 30 years. Our good employee retention ensures long-term and competent contacts for our customers.

Cooperation on an equal footing

We want to develop logistics for and with our customers. Because a project is only successful if a coherent overall concept is created from expertise and individual requirements.
